

April 22 – April 26, 2024

FREE and OPEN to the PUBLIC!

Sponsored by the MSU Climate Solutions Group, MSU Campus Climate Coalition, and Gallatin Valley Earth Day

CLIMATE WEEK

@ Montana State University

Visit us @ <https://www.montana.edu/communitydevelopment/climateweek.html>

MONDAY, APRIL 22

6:30PM Norm Asbjornson Hall Room 165

Ian van Coller: "Naturalists of the Long Now"

Van Coller, MSU Professor of Photography, will present his most recent work focusing on environmental issues related to climate change and deep time. These projects have centered on the production of large-scale artist books, as well as direct collaborations with paleoclimatologists.

TUESDAY, APRIL 23

4:30PM Norm Asbjornson Hall Room 137

Pico Alt: "Past Climate of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem: How Lessons from Lake Sediments can Inform our Future"

Pico Alt is a PhD candidate in the MSU Department of Earth Sciences and will discuss how members of MSU's paleoecology laboratory use natural archives to uncover the vegetation and fire histories of our forests and present recent findings on the vegetation and climate history of the GYE.

6:30PM Norm Asbjornson Hall Room 165

Michael Reidy: "Why Mountaineering Matters: John Tyndall and the Invention of the Natural Greenhouse Effect"

Reidy, MSU Professor of History, will discuss the John Tyndall Correspondence Project, an effort to resurrect the life, work, and ultimate significance of the Irish physicist John Tyndall by publishing in a series of nineteen scholarly volumes all 8,000 extant letters to and from Tyndall.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24

7:00 PM Romney 306

David Carlson: "Driving against the grain: Enjoying an EV in Montana"

Carlson is the former Director of the World Climate Research Programme and will discuss his recent article in the Yale Climate Communications on his cross-continent, 6,000-mile journey in his electric car and lessons learned on how we can all embrace EVs. Carlson's EV will be on display outside the venue.

THURSDAY, APRIL 25

6:00 PM Bozeman Public Library

Annie Coleman: "Getting into Mountains: A History of Guiding and the Challenges of Access"

Coleman is an Associate Professor, University of Notre Dame and Faculty Affiliate with the Environmental Change Initiative and focuses her research on the cultural and environmental history of outdoor sports and recreation. This talk is part of the Minds on Mountains Conference, which is sponsored by the MSU College of Letters and Science.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26

4:00 PM Reynolds Recital Hall

Climate Concert with MSU faculty and students

In collaboration with the MSU School of Music, Climate Week culminates with a climate-themed musical concert; come celebrate an exciting week of learning and action with this moving and emotive set of environmentally focused musical pieces interspersed with poetry to provide hope and courage.

5:00 PM Norm Asbjornson Inspiration Hall

Conrad Anker and Katie Ives: Mountains of the World

Anker (climber) and Ives (former long-time editor of Alpinist Magazine) will talk about their new work on Mountains of the World. Moderated by science historian Dr. Michael Reidy. This talk is part of the Minds on Mountains Conference which is sponsored by the MSU College of Letters and Science.

All Week: Check out Climate Week Kahoots (TRIVIA!) and Climate-Centered Book Display in the Montana State University Library, 2nd Floor Lobby

* Free Raffle Drawing with GREAT Prizes from Simms, Owenhouse Cycling, Stio Bozeman Mountain Studio, Bridger Brewing, Colombo's Pizza & Pasta, and more! Every event is a chance to win!*

